Strategic Growth History

Leon J. Holschbach

President and CEO
Midland States Bancorp, Inc.

Fellow Shareholders:

2015 was another strong year for the Company. By several financial measures our performance improved markedly over 2014, driven by strong organic growth and the Heartland Bank acquisition, which was completed on December 31, 2014. For the 2015 fiscal year, net income was $$ 24.3$ million, an increase of $124.9 \%$ from 2014. Earnings per share (diluted) rose to $$ 2.00$, up $277.4 \%$ from 2014. Book value per share increased to $$ 19.74$, and tangible book value per share grew to $$ 15.20$, representing increases of $5.4 \%$ and $10.0 \%$, respectively. Total assets grew by $7.8 \%$, to $$ 2.9$ billion, during 2015. We also increased per share dividends on our common stock by $10.2 \%$, representing the 15th year in a row we have increased dividends by at least $10 \%$.

2007 Revenue Composition

2015 Revenue Composition

I also believe it was a key year in the Company's continued growth. The Heartland Bank acquisition provided greater breadth and scale, and several key metrics showing solid improvement. Perhaps the most noteworthy example is reflected by the growth in our percentage of noninterest revenue to total revenue. This metric generally reflects the extent to which a bank is not solely reliant on interest income, and therefore not fully exposed to decreasing interest margin. A higher percentage of noninterest income generally reflects a lower dependence on net interest margin, which tends to decrease in times of low interest rates.

While our noninterest income represented a healthy $24.0 \%$ of total revenue in 2014, our noninterest income rose to $36.2 \%$ of total revenue in 2015. Principal drivers of this increase in 2015 were the addition of Love Funding, which originated almost $$ 400$ million of commercial and multi-family FHA loans in 2015, and the significant expansion in our residential mortgage business, which grew from $$ 105.6$ million of originations in 2014 (excluding Heartland Bank) to $$ 580.8$ million by the combined mortgage business in 2015. This increase in noninterest income demonstrates the significance of the revenue diversification initiative in our Strategic Plan.

Based on strong efforts by our commercial and retail bankers, we also experienced strong loan, deposit and leasing growth in 2015. Total deposits grew to $$ 2.4$ billion, representing $10.1 \%$ growth, while total loans grew to $$ 2.0$ billion, an increase of $11.0 \%$. I view these levels of growth in a year of nominal expansion in the U.S. economy as truly impressive. Heartland Business Credit, our commercial leasing company located in Denver, Colorado, also had its best year ever, finishing 2015 with a lease portfolio of $$ 144.2$ million, up $26.0 \%$ from 2014 year-end. Our leasing team did a tremendous job in an extremely competitive environment.

In 2015, we principally focused on integrating Heartland Bank's businesses, employees and systems with ours. Overall the process went well, and it was gratifying to see the "can do" attitude displayed by the Heartland personnel, who had to quickly become familiar with new data systems, operating procedures, products and services. I am grateful to all of the Midland employees, old and new, for their dedication and hard work during this process.

The growth that resulted from the Heartland acquisition has also led us to bring in additional management talent. I've mentioned a few of these new hires in the 2015 quarterly shareholder letters, and I am pleased to say that we are already benefitting from their expertise. We look forward to introducing you to other new hires and internal promotions as we continue to grow.

In late 2015 we also added a new director to the holding company board Deborah Golden. Deb filled the board vacancy created by Tony Siemer's retirement, and brings additional business, legal and executive level experience to our board. Deb is Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary of GATX, a NYSE listed company headquartered in Chicago. Deb's experience at GATX, which is in the equipment leasing business, is particularly relevant to us following our acquisition of Heartland Business Credit. Deb has also served as Assistant General Counsel for the Office of the Governor, State of Illinois, and in various executive legal positions at Ameritech Corporation. She was also a partner at the law firm of Schiff, Hardin & Waite. Deb holds a B.A. from Boston College, a J.D. from Loyola University School of Law and an M.B.A. from Loyola University. Please join me in welcoming her to the Midland family.

Another area of increased focus for us in 2015 was on building the same types of close-knit, boots-on-the-ground relationships in our newer communities as we have always maintained in our long-standing neighborhoods. Part of this effort involved the opening of two new banking offices, one in downtown

Deborah Golden Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary of GATX Joliet, Illinois, and one in Jennings, Missouri. Another part involves working with additional community development groups, government agencies and community business leaders. These collective efforts are part of a larger vision and plan, which in this case is described in our Community Development Plan (CDP). The CDP is designed to increase our deposit, lending and business services relationships with lower and moderate income families and minority owned businesses, and help drive economic development, in our communities. We believe these efforts can provide us with opportunities for further growth.

We also opened our new downtown Effingham branch in October 2015, after having been in the former location since 1883. We know that there are many pundits who say that branch banking is on its way out and will be completely overtaken by mobile banking and "fintechs", but I see strong indications that community banks will continue to play an important role in the U.S. banking sector. For example, according to the Banc Investment Daily, a recent survey performed by the Federal Reserve of small businesses with less than 500 employees found that $75 \%$ of borrowers were satisfied with their borrowing experience at small banks, while only $15 \%$ were satisfied with online lenders.

I also believe Midland's relationship-based banking does, and will likely continue to, play an important role in our overall business model and efforts to drive further shareholder value. For example, I mentioned that our total deposits increased by more than $10 \%$ in 2015 . But all deposits are not of equal value to a bank. Banks that rely heavily on the Internet, out-ofmarket mass mailings and other non-branch bank deposit gathering activities often wind up with significant levels of "non-core" deposits. These non-core deposits, including "brokered" deposits, tend to come and go quickly since they are constantly chasing the highest yield, and as a result banks often must pay higher rates to attract these deposits. Midland, however, enjoys a stable and growing base of more permanent "core" deposits, and we generally maintain lower costs of funds and stronger net interest margin than many of our competitors. At December 31,2015 , core deposits represented $88.4 \%$ of our total deposits, and for 2015, our weighted average cost of interest bearing deposits was $0.44 \%$. Moreover, noninterest bearing deposits represented $23.0 \%$ of our total deposits at year-end. These factors helped contribute to a $4.38 \%$ net interest margin for 2015, which we believe compares very favorable to many of our peers as well as to most regional and national banks. So while there is no doubt that Midland's online and mobile banking, as well as other technology conveniences we may launch in the future, improve our customers' banking experience, I also believe branch locations will continue to drive our business for some time to come.

This all leads me to the final points I want to make in this year's letter. As I have said on many occasions, the Company's most important asset is our people. This is true across our entire organization, from top to bottom, and is why we began a program we refer to as "Ensuring Leadership Continuity" approximately five years ago. The program is designed to help us plan for continued growth, as well as expected and unexpected changes in personnel, including senior management personnel.

Jeff Ludwig
Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Midland States Bancorp, Inc.
President and Chief Financial Officer Midland States Bank

Jeff Mefford Executive Vice President, Banking
Midland States Bank

As part of this effort, in early February our Bank Board promoted Jeff Ludwig, who had been the Bank's Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, to the position of President of the Bank. Jeff remains the Chief Financial Officer of the Bank and the Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of the Company. At the same time, the board also promoted Jeff Mefford, who had been Senior Vice President, Community Banking, to the role of Executive Vice President, Banking, of the Bank.

These promotions were well warranted and serve as an important part of our overall succession planning. Both Jeff Ludwig and Jeff Mefford have been instrumental in the development and the execution of our Strategic Plan, and I have come to rely on each of them for sound advice and general business and banking knowledge.

Both Jeffs have also had a strong hand in running our overall operations during the past eight years of growth. In addition to running Finance, Jeff Ludwig has been responsible for Treasury, Operations, Wealth Management, IT, and Facilities. Jeff Mefford has lead our entire Retail and Commercial Banking operation, and has been the key management link to our efforts to use our bank to support the growth of Heartland Business Credit and Love Funding. In addition to other important roles, in his new position he will oversee Marketing as well, allowing for full coordination of our marketing and branding efforts Company-wide. Moreover, in addition to the operational roles each has had, over the past few years, virtually all of our business leaders and senior management personnel have reported to one or both of them. While each of their roles have expanded as a result of these promotions, they will continue to run their respective areas of responsibility. Please join me in congratulating each of them on their very well deserved promotions, and in knowing that we are taking the steps necessary to provide for the continued leadership of our organization.

These promotions also proved to be a timely way to test our leadership continutiy efforts. Less than two weeks after the promotions were made I learned that I needed to take an unexpected six week leave of absense for health reasons. While it was enormously frustrating for me to be sitting at home while our Company continued moving forward, in hindsight it was actually quite useful for my role as CEO in at least two important ways. First, it allowed me the time to consider all we have done in the eight years that I have been with the Company, and to consider whether our community banking model in general, and our Strategic Plan in particular, can continue to drive shareholder value. I believe the answer is a resounding "yes." I also believe we are better positioned to capitalize on further growth opportunities than we were in 2007 when I arrived at the Company.

Second, it reaffirmed my belief in our management team and employees. Almost any good business book describes the importance of hiring the best possible people and providing them the resources and training to perform well. We have accomplished many things in the past eight years, including nine acquisitions, several capital raises, an almost ten-fold increase in the number of employees and a more than ten-fold increase in the number of locations. But, in my view, none of these compare in importance for driving further shareholder value than the management team we have built during this period, both at the board level and in our operating units. I believe the combination of our board members, who are business savvy, but also thoughtful and cautious, coupled with our talented and dedicated management team, gives us the organizational strength we need to continue our growth and further drive earnings and dividends.
